

subtitle/lead-in

TITLE

The Master of Science in Print Media degree program offers students an opportunity to explore new areas of research in the graphic arts communications field. The School of Media Sciences faculty and curriculum focus on establishing quality and processes in graphic communications.

The Master of Science in Print Media degree program offers students an opportunity to explore new areas of research in the graphic arts communications field. The The Master of Science in Print Media degree program offers students an opportunity to explore new areas of research in the graphic arts communications field. The

IN-TEXT TITLE

In-text title

The School of Media Sciences is a world authority in the management, production and distribution of content through platforms including web, print, mobile and social media.

12

Read more

READ MORE

Read more Read more Read more Read more
Read more Read more Read more Read more